

A Missing Boss

Mrs. Luna who was the owner of a jewellery company went missing after joining a party in a hotel on Saturday evening.

In order to find out the truth of this case, Inspector Jack Black first went to check the CCTV images of the hotel. Then he interviewed Mrs. Luna's staff. Some suspects were found through the CCTV images and the interviews. They were Anna Gi, Kelly Lee, James So and Emma Tao.

The next day, Inspector Jack Black followed two of the suspects, Kelly Lee and James So. When they were arguing with each other, a box fell on the ground. Inside the box, there was a necklace that Miss Luna wore on the day she disappeared. Each of the other suspects had an alibi, so there was no need to conduct any further investigation.

Since Inspector Jack Black wanted to look for some more clues, he went to Miss Luna's room which she planned to stay after the party the day before. With the help of some hotel staff, Jack Black got the room's key. As soon as the door of Mrs. Luna's room was opened, Jack Black found that Mrs. Luna had been tied up and her jewellery was all gone. However, the robbers were so clumsy that they left their fingerprints on the safe. The police identified the criminals through their fingerprints. They were Kelly Lee, James So and Miss Luna's husband, Tom Luna.

As the saying goes, "Never depend on anyone except yourself!" Jack Black was so surprised that her husband was one of the robbers. In the end, the robbers were all brought to justice.
